

Amina is the founder of the Atlanta Institute of Tantra & Divine Sexuality, owner of Fearless Giving (formerly Tantra In Paradise) and the host of the Fix Your Sex Podcast. She is a healer, intimacy coach, massage therapist, tantric sex educator, sacred sex worker, sexual revolutionary and activist.

She began practicing massage after completing a 500 hr program at the New Chicago School of Bodywork and Massage in 2004. A graduate of the University of IL (B.A. Sociology), she was a doula for 3 years, has been a personal trainer and fitness coach for over 11 years and yoga instructor (200RYT) for 4.

After a year of practice in Chicago, she moved to Hawaii and learned and share a more sexual based approach to massage therapy. There, with access to great shamans, wonderful clients and the healing energies of the land and the ocean, she mastered the art of lingham and yoni massage. Now based in Atlanta, Amina is passionate about the ability to heal and empower through love, sexual growth, and freedom. She is dedicated to showing people how to live authentically in every moment. Amina teaches and speaks at events across the US and is available for coaching, workshops and a variety of sessions- over the internet, in-person, or by phone .

Amina's extensive background in fitness and health has made her work especially focused on helping lovers heal their wounds related to body image, sexual abuse, self esteem and identity. In 2006, she launched women's circles in Honolulu to provide a space for women to focus on their sexual expansion free from distractions of the male gaze and has continued this practice in Atlanta.

Amina's core beliefs that guide her practice are:

- Feminine Divine and Worship
- Intentional Touch
- Sacred Sex and Intimacy
- Existing Consciously
- Clearing Sexual Shame, Guilt and Fear
- Recognition of the Inner Masculine AND Feminine
- Sex Magic
